MASSASOIT

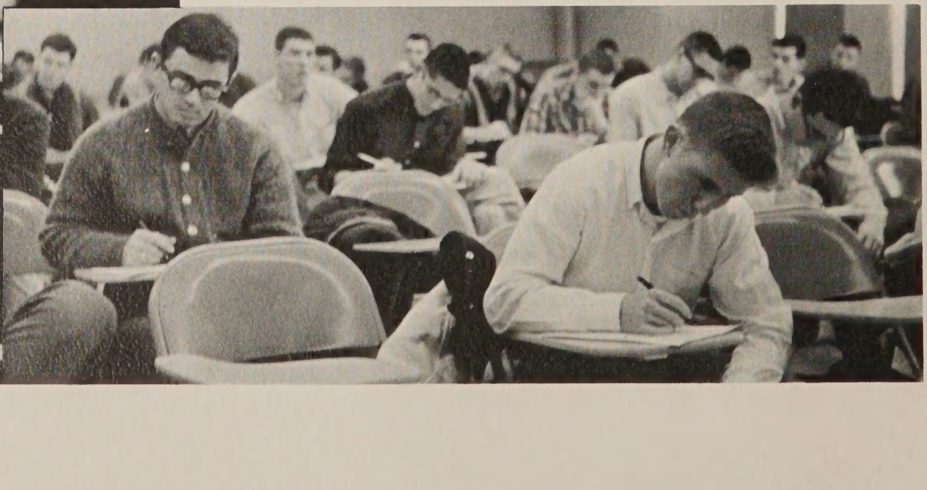
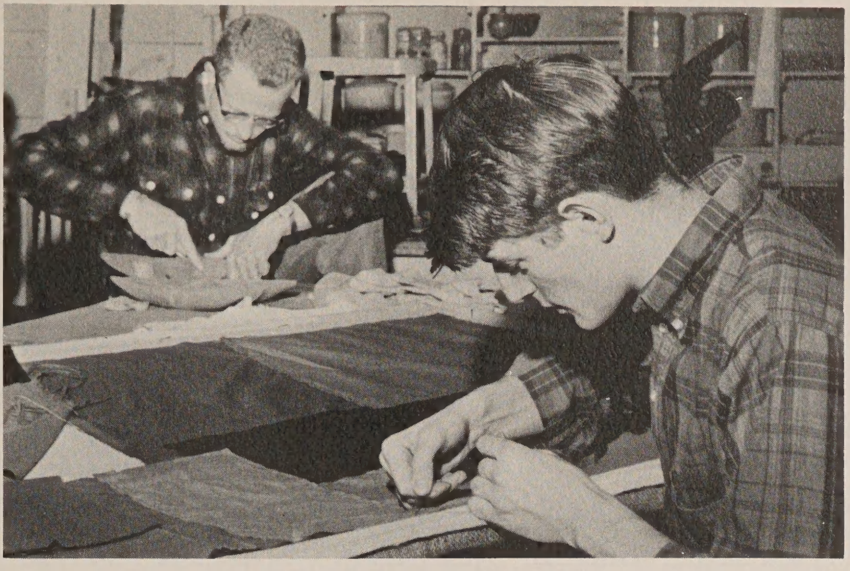
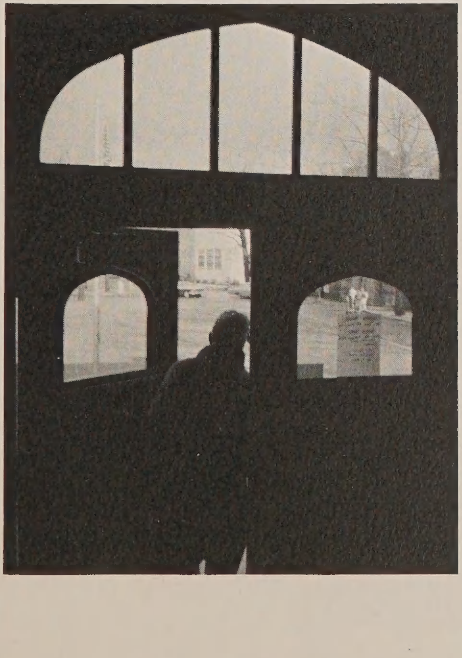
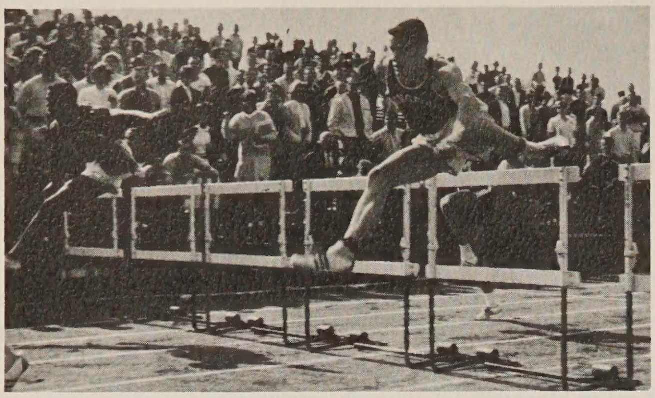
A college can be more than an institution of higher learning. The knowledge we seek at Springfield is the means for achieving our ultimate goal—concern for man and service to mankind. With a genuine belief in this ideal the college was founded and . . .

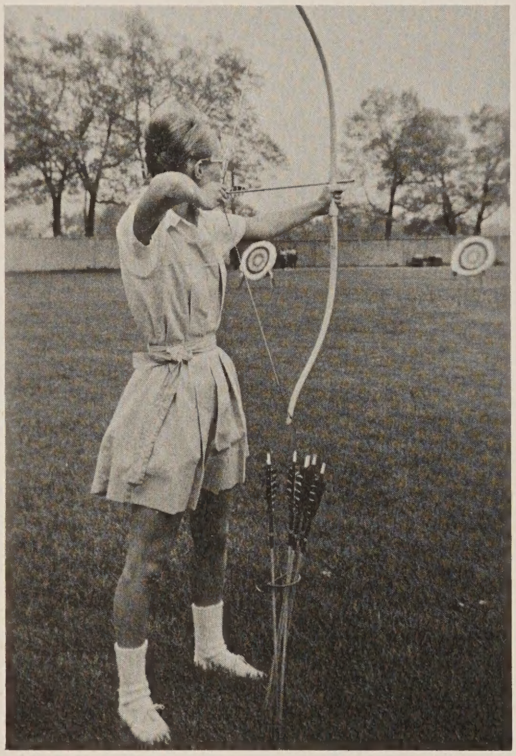




. . . a tradition was born.







With strength of mind the body is built. The score might only be second but if the individual has gained a deeper insight into life from the competition, the game is not lost.

And a tradition took shape and began to develop.

Spirit is the link of the strong mind and powerful body. It is the tranquility of the chapel, the enthusiasm of a happy crowd, the eagerness of a young man rising to meet a challenge. The integration of the mind, body and spirit is dynamic and a tradition became a legend.

To you the friend of Springfield College, we hope you'll be able to capture part of the Spirit of the Springfield Tradition. And to you the graduate, may this book serve in some small way as a tangible reminder of the myriad intangibles we together found at Springfield.

dedication

It is not often that a man can arrive on a college campus and have the power of his personality and intelligence felt so quickly and effectively. We can not thank this man for decades of devoted service for he has been at Springfield for only two years. But if an hour were a day and a month a year, his infamous wit, the mutual respect shared by students and a faculty member and his many hours devoted to the development of the student as a dynamic and rational social being, would have long been established as a legend.

For the spirit of the Springfield Tradition which he so completely exemplifies, the 1964 Massasoit is dedicated to Mr. Howard Bavender.

. . . the power of his intelligence . . .

. . . mutual respect shared by students and a faculty member . . .

. . . And he would gladly learn and gladly teach . . .

DR. GLENN A. OLDS
President

Dear Senior:

Four years slip by so swiftly. It seems only a moment ago we were welcoming you. Yet, much has happened in the world, and in you, to remind us these have been time-filled, momentous days. Men orbiting the earth in outer space remind us how small our world has become, yet how great the mind and power of man to understand and transcend it. Sit-ins in Mississippi remind us how students silently run, while sitting, to help the dispossessed of the earth catch up to their rightful human opportunity. Test-ban treaties conclude to confirm the possibility of peace in our time; and the tragic assassination of our president reminds us of the counterpart of peace, the sad scramble of hate in the heart of a man, that war in "inner" space, we must win or all is lost.

In less dramatic ways, perhaps, our campus, too, and you, have changed, not merely in appearance, but in spirit and maturity. There is a livelier internationalism, a keener sense of participation in the "running sound of history." Personal responsibility runs deep in your class, and the first steps of our long awaited judiciary system and honor code you have taken.

It is with confidence we see you stride to meet your future, made for running. May our confidence in you be matched by your own commitment. May our motto for our 75th Anniversary coined the year you came go before you as you leave—"whole persons in a divided world"—healing and helping youth everywhere.

The varsity golfers although sporting a twelve and one record participated in close and exciting match plays with the finest golfers in New England. Competition was keener than the record would have one believe. Although the loss of swingers Daley, Munson, Holmes and Tyson will be felt, the steady improvement of underclassmen could give the golfers a strong '64 team.

Pre-season indications had led the hoopsters to believe that the 1963-64 basketball season would be anything but a vacation. However, the loss of last year's standouts proved not to be as catastrophic as was originally thought. The "Naismith boys" ignored the predictions and went out and chalked up a truly admirable record. Their two four-point losses in the District 1 playoffs were truly heartbreaking. However, we lost only in that we did not score as many points as our opponents. The Maroons certainly played as well, if not better, than both Adelphi and Assumption.

The 1963-64 Men's Gymnastics Competition Team has been outstanding this season. The team's one-point loss to the Black Knights of the Hudson was truly a heartbreaker. However, our gallant gymnasts bounced right back with a decisive victory over the Midshipmen of the U.S. Naval Academy. Since the team is comprised almost completely of underclassmen, we can look forward to another winning season.

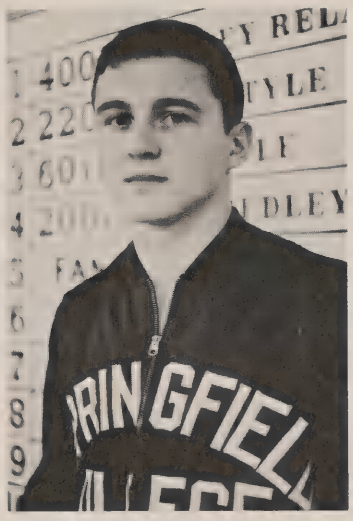
Co-Captains Patton and Skoog

As has become tradition with the inhabitants of McCurdy Natatorium, this year saw a number of old records erased and replaced with new ones.



Dave Sias

Dave Robinson

Also in keeping with tradition, the mermen continued competing against some of the finest competition in and around the New England area. And, finally, in what we hope becomes a tradition, the swimming team, led by Co-Captains Bill Skoog and Glen Patton, along with the standout performances of Ed Reed, has shown commendable improvement over past years. The team is growing; the "bathtub" is overflowing.

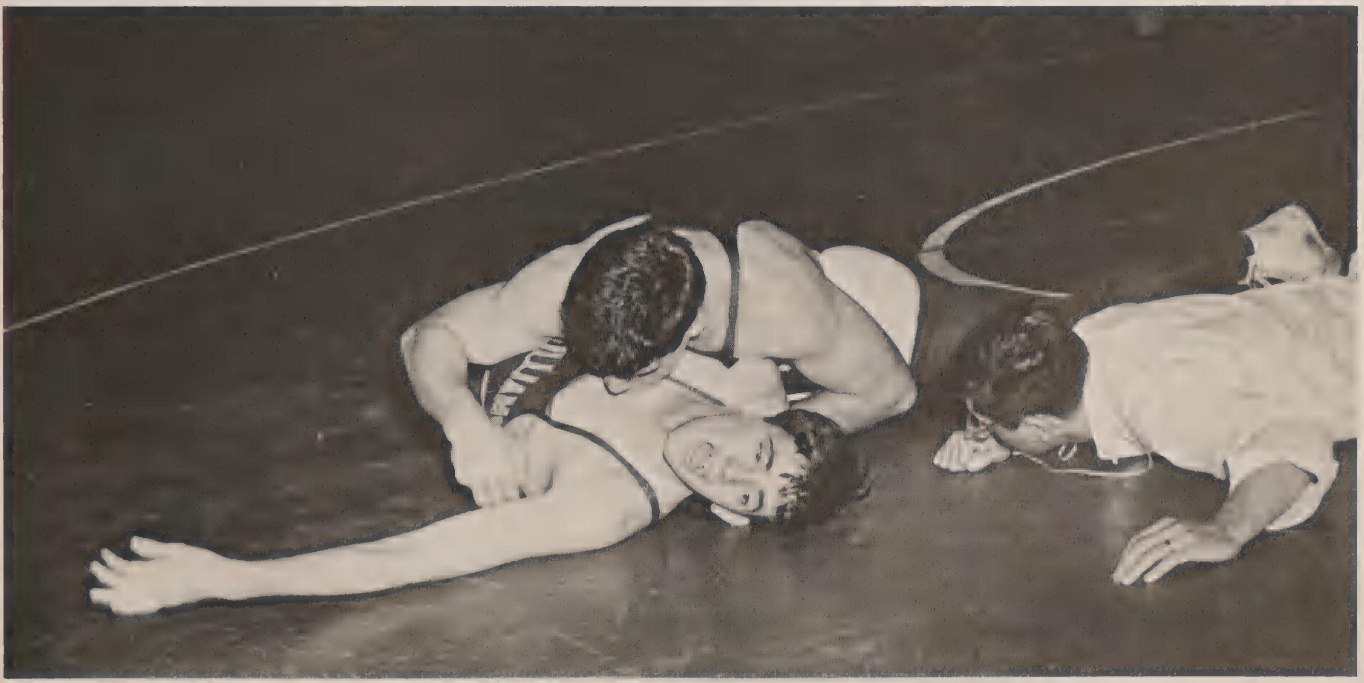
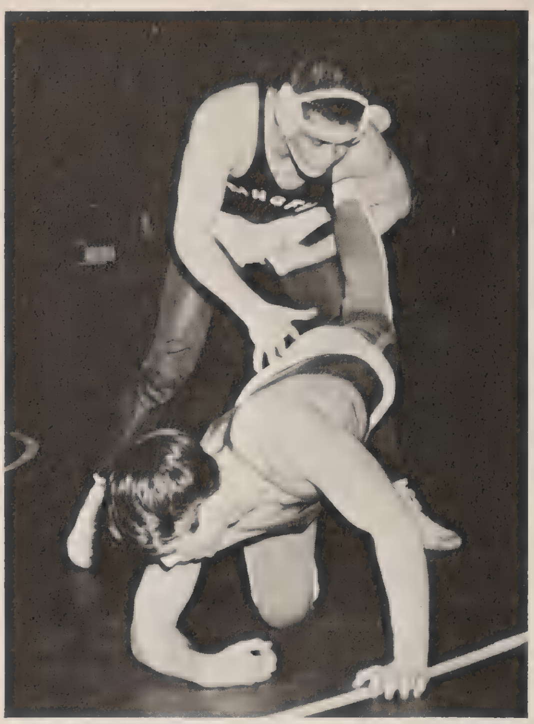
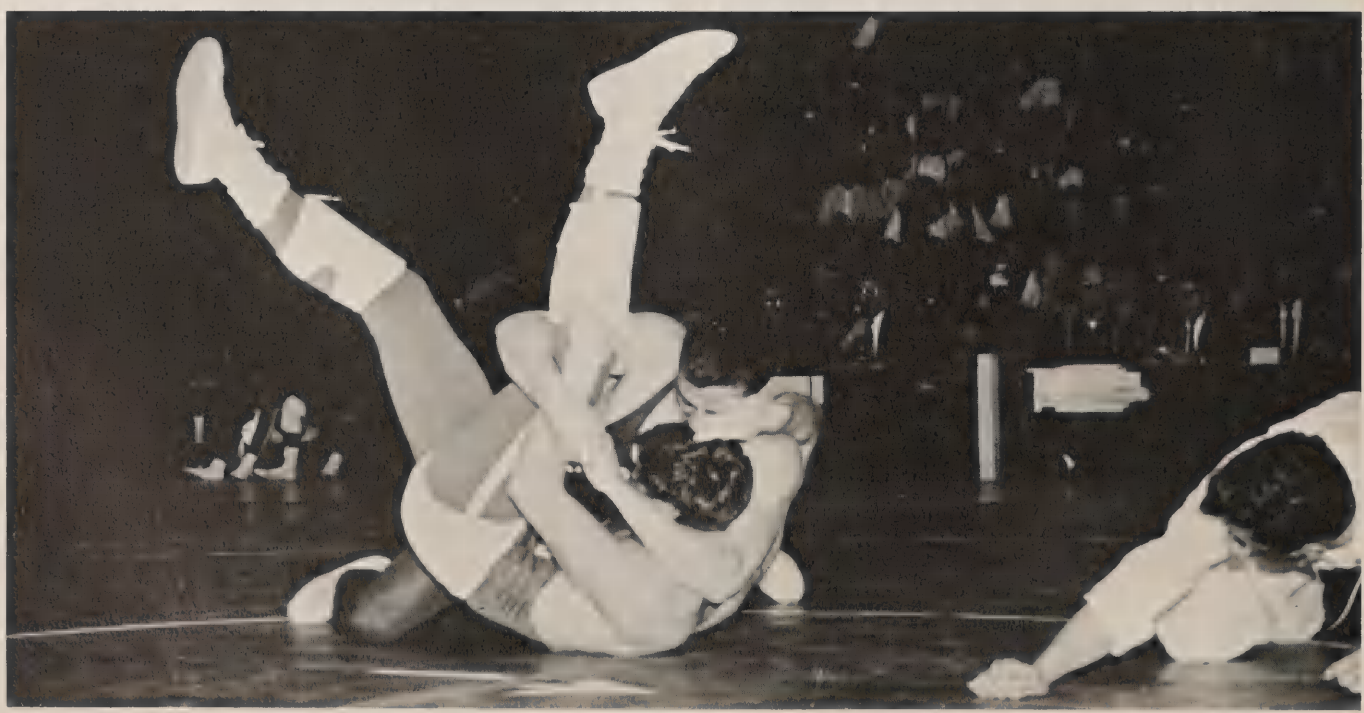
The grapplers were another team whose future was in doubt prior to the start of the season. And here again we received a pleasant surprise. Both the veterans and the rookies came through in fine style. The Varsity Team completed an undefeated season for the first time in school history.





The only disappointing aspect connected with the wrestlers was that we had to wait until approximately one-half of the season was completed before we were able to see our valiant gladiators in their home arena. However, each time they ventured forth to meet new challenges, they carried with them our hopes for victory.



With the Freshman Team sporting an enviable 8-0 record the Varsity Team can look forward to strong re-enforcements in the years to come Intercollegiate athletics at Springfield this year have been for the most part, extremely successful. The volleyball team is certainly no exception. Under the able direction of head coach Fred Geisler and captain Jim Hermon, the volleyball team came through in fine fashion with an enviable record. And, this is only the beginning. Looking ahead to next season, we see the bright lights of success burning even brighter. There will not only be returning lettermen, but also almost two dozen hopefuls who are already banging on Coach Geisler's door anxious to try out for the team.

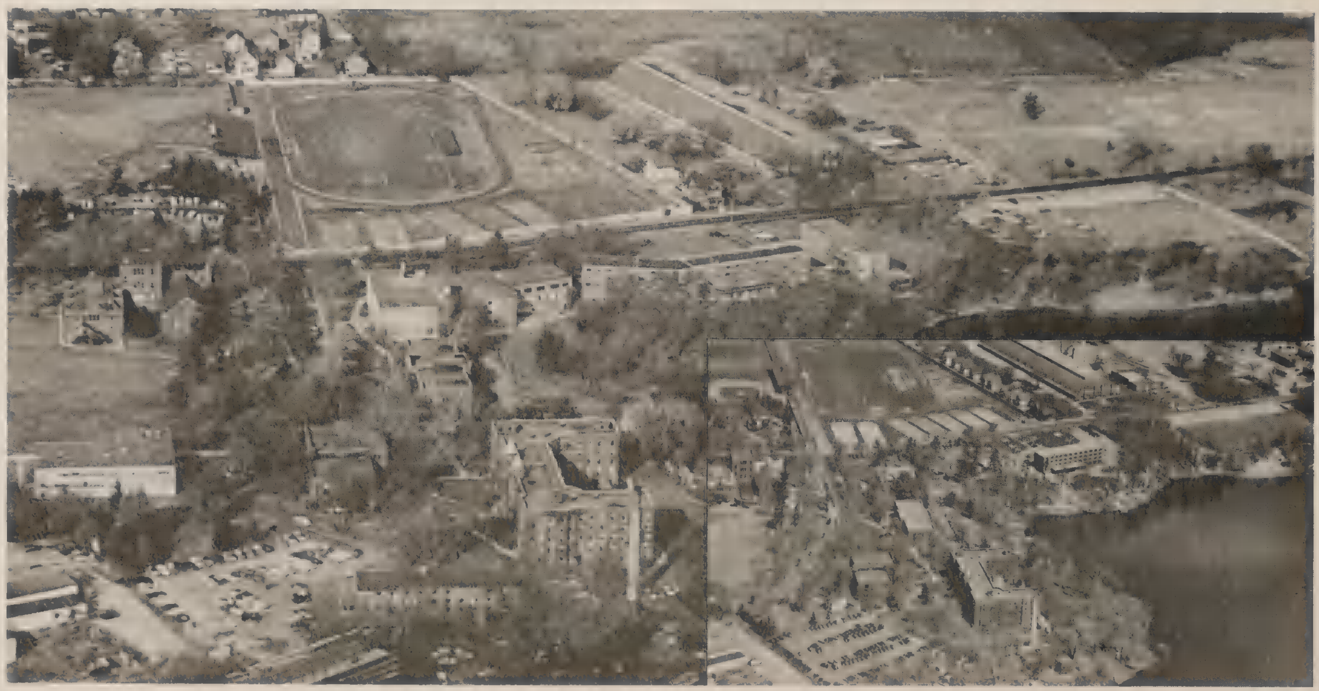
The spirit of any tradition rests with the people. However, as the spirit of the Springfield Tradition evolved, the Springfield campus did not remain static. From a three story building at Armory Hill in 1885 to its present location on Lake Massasoit the campus has spread out and built up.



With the construction of a five storied dorm and Judd Gymnasium the campus began to take its present form. When the dorm was converted to a two storied administration building, Alumni Hall was erected.

From the site of the first basketball scrimmage in 1891 to the site of the Basketball Hall of Fame, Springfield has shown its perpetual concern for the development of the human body.

With the end of World War II and the commencement of the building campaign, the belief that a strong body is essential in today's life was re-enforced by the construction of the Field House.

MEMORIAL FIELD HOUS

The graduate of the Class of '64 was one of the first to use The Beveridge Center, the nucleus of campus life. Also he witnessed the completion of two men's dorms, one girl's dorm, the science building and Woods Hall.

As the campus continues to develop the graduate continues to mature. As both pass through the portals of time, they are nurtured by an unveering spirit. This is THE SPIRIT OF THE SPRINGFIELD TRADITION and it stands as A LIVING LEGEND.

The art of being a non-conformist or why many perceptive yearbook staffs prefer a very distinguished publishing house

Retaining one's individuality is not easy in these days of mass production and standardization. This is especially true of yearbook publishing, in which mass production methods have the tendency to force one to buy just what the other fellow buys.

Making of soap or soup or salad dressing by mass methods is one thing. But it is quite another to attempt to produce a creative yearbook by trying to squeeze it into some pre-conceived mold. It just can't be done that way.

The Wm. J. Keller firm brings together highly trained craftsmen, the very finest papers and ink of superlative quality. Add to these a unique service plan built around the individual school, and, finally, production by the Velvatone process, which Keller perfected especially for the printing of yearbooks, and you have a truly distinguished performance. And a yearbook with singular character and individuality . . . we call it "THE LOOK OF THE BOOK."

The yearbook you are presently leafing through is the product of the Keller custom program. If you would care to see other examples of "THE LOOK OF THE BOOK" as produced by Wm. J. Keller, get in touch with us now.
